OAKLAND TO BE BARRED ZONE, WAR ARMY MEN

City Officials Told That They Must "Clean Up" or Enlist Men Will Not Be Permitted to Come Hereabouts

ATTACK ON PROVOST GUARD CAUSES ACTION

Police Accused by Lieut. H. E. Cole With Allowing Rioters to Proceed Unmolested; Nedderman and Morse Warned

"The City of Oakland will be declared a barred zone to all members of the armed forces of the United States, even men home on furlough, at 9 a. m. Monday, February 10, by Major General Morrison, commanding the Western Army Department, unless by midnight Saturday, February 8, the Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, Mr. Morse, makes good the promises made to me yesterday concerning a clean-up of the liquor and vice situation in Oakland so far as it concerns soldiers and sailors," Lieutenant Henry H. Cole, provost marshal of this district, said today.

This action was decided upon following a detailed report of an assault made by a mob of three hundred civilians upon two members of the Provost Guard, Monday night on Tenth street between Washington and Broadway. The mob attempted to take a prisoner away from Sergeant C. P. Harrelson and Corporal Francis Farley.

POLICE FAILED TO AID, IS CHARGE.

This mob, which began hurling missiles, was held off by revolution in the hands of a rescue party. It followed Sergeant Harrelson and his prisoner to the very doors of the City Hall while, according to Lieutenant Cole, two uniformed police officers stood calmly by and made no attempt to disperse the crowd.

Charges are also made, following interviews had by Provost Marshal Cole yesterday with Chief of Police Henry Nedderman, Mayor John L. Davis and Commissioner Morse that an order made last July prohibiting the sale of package or bottle goods after 4 p. m. each week day and Sunday, and 12 noon on Saturday, being violated with the knowledge of the police department, which was permitting the sale of package goods until 7 p. m. the closing hour on Saturday being extended until 9 o'clock, and that no arrests were being made.

(The Oakland city council recently extended the hours of sale of package goods.)

HARRELSON'S REPORT OF ATTACK.

The detailed report of Sergeant Harrelson concerning the attack upon himself and Corporal Farley follows:

"At 11:15 p. m., February 2, while standing with Corporal Francis Farley at the corner of Tenth and Broadway, Oakland, we saw three sailors, apparently in an intoxicated condition, entering the Arcadia dance hall. Calling to them, we walked to the bottom of the stairs, where one of them had stopped. I was cautioning him when one of the other two, afterward identified as Saitor Arthur Brown, came back down stairs to the doorway of the Jaffe Wine Company, where we were talking to Brown. Applying abusive language and threats, Brown struck me in the face and I placed him under arrest, handcuffing him with one cuff, holding the other in my hand. A crowd had gathered due to Brown's cries for assistance. Corporal Farley was struck over the head with a billy and forced to draw his revolver. He held the crowd at bay while I started with Brown to city prison.

"Some of the crowd followed me and I was forced to seek refuge with my prisoner in the Waldorf Hotel on Washington street, between Tenth and Eleventh. The crowd followed me in and I asked the bartender to phone for the police. He refused and I was finally compelled to take the telephone myself, holding Brown with one hand while six or eight, who had crowded

MRS. Z. P. DYAR SEEKS DIVORCE FROM SCIENTIST

Turning upon her famous husband, Dr. Harrison Dyar, chief entomologist of the Smithsonian Institution, whose suit against her for divorce was dropped by the Reno courts lacking jurisdiction, Mrs. Z. P. Dyar of 2111 Regent street, Berkeley, today initiated suit for divorce on her own behalf.

Back of the suit is a long chapter of domestic complications, most sensational of which was the $200,000 suit filed by Dr. Dyar against Mrs. Allen of Reno, Mrs. Dyar's suit does not mention Mrs. Allen. It alleges desertion, demands $200 a month alimony and $100 a month for the support of a minor son, a student in the Berkeley high school. With Mrs. Dyar at Berkeley is also her daughter, Miss Dorothy Dyar, a sophomore in the University of California. The only other allegation in the brief complaint is that the couple were married in 1881 at Los Angeles and separated in 1918.

DR. DYAR'S REPUTATION IS INTERNATIONAL

Dr. Dyar is one of the best known entomologists in this country and enjoys an international reputation as well. He has served in turn Columbia University, the United States National Museum, the Department of Agriculture and the Smithsonian Institution. He has been editor of several scientific magazines of prominence, especially the proceedings of the Entomological Society, and is the author of a number of entomological books.

His suit for divorce, charging cruelty and desertion, was filed at Reno in March, 1916, but did not come to trial until September of that year, when, after several days' hearing, it was thrown out of court by Judge P. C. Stoddard on the grounds that Dr. Dyar had not lived in Reno long enough to give the court jurisdiction.

CROSS COMPLAINT BRINGS IN PROPERTY TRANSFER

Mrs. Dyar not only denied her husband's charges categorically, but made some on her own behalf in her cross-complaint. She alleged to the court that her husband had transferred at least a sixth of his fortune to Mrs. Allen, while the scientist had met in Washington and who was said, at the time Dr. Dyar went to Reno to file his suit, to be in that city as well.

Something of this phase of the case was disclosed by Dr. Dyar in an interview with the court, after a day's hearing in open court. Judge Stoddard dismissed the complaint and held the remainder of the trial behind closed doors.

Dr. Dyar was quick to explain the $100,000 gift to Mrs. Allen. His promise was given years ago, he told Judge Stoddard, to take care of her family and he felt himself obliged to make the transfer. Then he dropped the story which Dr. Dyar admitted writing and which had been published, wherein was pictured the family's financial straits and in which appeared a mythical "Flossie," said to be Mrs. Allen.

"FLOSSIE" FIGURES IN FAMILY DISPUTE

The story in substance told that one Paul French conceived the idea of holding property in Flossie's name. The aftermath came when Mrs. French found Flossie in apartments belonging to her husband, Flossie was straightaway ordered out and a family row followed, after which French made another will in which Mrs. French was allowed provision under an existing contract but the children were cut off from share in the estate, the remainder of which went entirely to Flossie. Formerly the story intimated, left everything to Mrs. French, including the property held in Flossie's name.

It was expected that Dyar would fulfill the Nevada residence requirements and renew his suit, but he almost immediately returned to Washington without attempting to do so, and his suit has not since come into court. The only succeeding chapter in the romance is the current one, the suit brought by the wife today.

ALBERS FOUND GUILTY; FACES TWENTY YEARS

Millionaire Miller of Oakland Convicted on Two Counts Out of Seven Under Espionage Law in Portland Court

Remarks Made on Train Are Held Obstructive to War Program; Prisoner Is Given Freedom on $10,000 Bail

The federal jury at Portland today convicted Henry Albers, well-known millionaire of Oakland, and other coasts cities and former head of the Albers Brothers, one of the wealthiest milling concerns in the west, of violation of the espionage act. Two counts out of seven on which he was indicted, charging seditious utterances with intent to obstruct military preparation and successful prosecution of the war, were passed as proved by the jury.

The verdict was reached by the jury yesterday evening at the conclusion of a ten-day trial and sealed for the court, which read the verdict at 10 o'clock this morning. The maximum penalty for each of the counts is $10,000 fine and 20 years' imprisonment.

STAY OF 50 DAYS GRANTED BY COURT

Following a motion for a new trial by Albers' attorney a stay of thirty days was granted by Federal Judge Wolverton at Portland, and it is not likely that sentence will be pronounced for at least a month. Albers was released on $10,000 bonds, the amount on which he was at liberty before the trial.

Albers was arrested at Portland October 21 by deputy United States marshal. The evidence against him was obtained by another deputy while on a train on October 8 between Grants Pass and Roseburg, Oregon, allegedly unprovoked. Remarks were alleged to have been made on this trip by Albers, who the deputy claimed spent the time in the smoking compartment and was apparently intoxicated.

On this trip Albers to millers at towns where he stopped en route it was charged that Albers declared he was a German and glad of it; that he had served for 35 years under the Kaiser and that it "was better there than here."

CHARGED WITH MAKING REMARKS ABOUT MCADOO

He was charged further with declaring that his three brothers, associated with him in business, also were German sympathizers and with making abusive remarks about Secretary McAdoo.

Among statements which Albers made on the train the indictments mentioned these:

"To hell with America."
"You will never lick the Kaiser; never in a thousand years."
"Once a German, always a German."
"McAdoo is a ————"

"There will be a revolution here in ten years—in two months—maybe tomorrow."

Albers was released at Portland on $10,000 bonds, and soon afterward, in order not to embarrass the company of which he was president, he tendered his resignation from the presidency. The resignation was accepted and his brother, George Albers, was named his successor. The new official issued a statement maintaining the loyalty of the milling company.

INDICTED NOVEMBER 2 ON SEVEN COUNTS

On November 2 Albers was indicted by the federal grand jury at Portland on seven counts, all of them charging violation of the espionage law. Then began the fight to save Albers. The first idea of his attorney, both he and his brothers are said to have been comparatively poor when they arrived on this Coast and to have made their fortune, now considered to be considerable, solely in the milling business in the western states.

ALL INDUSTRY IN SEATTLE IS FACING TIEUP

Union Labor Leaders Declare 50,000 Men Will Join 25,000 Shipyard Strikers and Halt All Work Done in the City

Electricians Employed in Municipal Plant to Go Out, Leaving City in Darkness; Civic Bodies Back Mayor

SEATTLE, Feb. 5.—No electric light, no transportation, no newspapers, little fuel and possibly no gas and a limited amount of food—that's the prospect Seattle faces after 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when organized labor proposes to desert every industry in the city.

Thirty-six fraternal, business and patriotic organizations have joined in a determination to preserve law and order at any cost.

According to Central Labor Council officials, between 40,000 and 50,000 workers will answer the strike call and in sympathy join the 25,000 shipyard workers who struck recently for higher pay. No estimate has been made of the thousands of unorganized employees the strike will throw out of work.

MAYOR SAYS HE'LL RUN THE CITY

Seattle today wondered whether it will have electric lights during the strike. Yesterday Mayor Ole Hanson declared the city would light the city. Last night Leon Green, business agent of the Electrical Workers' Union, one of the striking organizations, said his union, which includes employees in the municipal plant, has decided to shut off all lights, including even hospital lights. All streets, homes and business houses will be darkened if the union fulfills its decision.

Hanson says he will take charge of the situation and attempt to operate the vital city utilities with substitute men.

"The seat of government is still at the city hall," declared Hanson. "The city government will continue to operate the light and water plants. It will care for sanitation. If the men now on the job quit, other men will be substituted."

"The mayor and the chief of police, together with the legally constituted authorities and the peace officers of the city, will continue to police the city of Seattle. Our function is to preserve order and protect life and property."

Union General Manager Piez in Philadelphia does the unexpected and grants concessions to the 25,000 striking ship workers, the sympathetic mass walk out of 95 per cent of union labor will occur, according to labor leaders here.

CITY EMPLOYEES GIVEN WARNING

The civil service commission has warned all employees to remain at work.

Telephone operators today continued voting on the question of joining the general strike. Street carmen who recently voted to walk out did not know early today if they would strike or not. They asked their international union to sanction their strike, but the international's answer has not yet been announced.

Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, Ministerial Association, Merchants' Exchange, Bar Association, Press Club, Young Men's Christian Association, Manufacturers' Association, Women's Clubs and twenty-seven other organizations met last night and adopted resolutions declaring they knew the vast majority of the people of Seattle stood for law and order. The resolutions urged all patriotic and loyal citizens to disfavor any action which would plunge Seattle into disorder.

The shipyard strike which brought on this crisis resulted from a refusal of shipworkers to abide by the Macy award, which had been accepted by the American Federation of Labor.

Tonight the Seattle Central Labor Council will meet to approve the general strike date, which was set at a meeting of union representatives last Sunday. It was believed the meeting tonight will approve the date.

There was talk here today that the council tonight may consider making the general strike a twenty-four hour walkout. Should the plan carry the sympathetic strikers would be back at their posts Friday.

CALIFORNIANS' TROOP TRAIN IS DITCHED IN TEXAS

PORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 5.—A Texas and Pacific railway troop train of thirteen cars loaded with Californians was derailed early today between Lemo and Cisco, Texas. The engine, baggage car and three sleepers turned over. Engineer Conzulin, Fireman Delhart and Conductor Swartz were injured. The occupants of the sleepers were bruised and shaken-up.

3,703,273 Men in U. S. Army As War Ends; Hun Force Greater Than Allies Until July 1

Force From America Turned the Tide Of Battle

Comparison Given of Army Strength on Western Front

1,682,000 Is Greatest "Rifle Strength" Of Allies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The total strength of the United States army on November 11, when the armistice was signed and when the American effort was at its peak, was 3,703,273 officers and men, including the marine corps on duty with the army in Europe.

A statistical table, made public today by the war department, gives this figure.

Included in the table is a comparative statement of the strength of allied and German forces on the western front by months, beginning April 1, 1918, showing that on July 1, for the first time, the allied "rifle strength" exceeded that of the Germans.

"RIFLE STRENGTH" MEANS MEN FIGHTING

In rifle strength, which means men "standing in the trenches ready to go over the top with the bayonet," the allied total on July 1 was 1,556,000 compared with 1,412,000 for the Germans.

On November 11 when the enemy's reserves had been exhausted and his front line strength reduced by about half, the allies had a rifle strength of 1,485,000, representing odds of upwards of two to one.

From July 1, as the Americans continued to arrive, allied superiority showed continued growth over the Germans, who had dropped on November 1 to a strength of $86,000.

GERMAN FORCES SUPERIOR IN APRIL

When the great German drive was launched in the spring of 1918 the enemy had a definite superiority of approximately 20 per cent, the figures for April 1 showing an allied rifle strength of 1,356,000 and German total of 1,629,000. The Germans reached their maximum June 1, with 1,639,000, while the allies reached their maximum on September 1, with 1,682,000.

The meaning of the rifle strength upon which the table is based is made clear by the fact that an American division with a total strength of approximately 27,000 fighting men is rated as 12,550 rifles.

The department's tables show that the rush of American troops to Europe when the German great drive was launched, not only succeeded in making good all allied losses from month to month at the front, but steadily increased the strength of the allied armies actually engaged.

Figures on the hundreds of thousands of Americans who were in training behind the lines are not given.

On November 11 the army in Europe was composed of 50,162 officers and 2,107,273 men were at sea and 1,682,000 men were in the expeditionary force on that date was 1602 officers and 31,383 men, making the total European army strength either in France or on route there 2,904,935 officers and men.

In the United States on that date were 1,634,499 army personnel and in the insular possessions, the canal zone and Alaska, there were 238,000 men.

The total strength of the Siberian expedition on that date was 238 officers and 8306 men.

BOY, 14, ADMITS CHECK THEFTS IN LIST OF CRIMES

Confessing to two burglaries, one of them the postoffice at Antioch, to picking pockets among the crowds at the Sixth Street Free Market, and to a list of small crimes here and in Contra Costa county, Walter Perrotti, 14-year-old Antioch youth, today told the Oakland police of a career of crime that covers almost every phase of law breaking.

The boy, a psychological puzzle to the police, is the second youthful burglar listed on by detectives today. The other is Clarence Baxter, 14 years old, who is accused of forging checks on four different people, and who is held for investigation to-day on charges of passing worthless paper on California, Bred and T. B. Brandon and other West Oakland merchants aggregating $100.

The Perrotti boy, given the third degree at the detention home, following his arrest on a charge of robbing the home of Mrs. Botge, 614 Jackson street, assaulted inspectors Con Keefe and Fenton Thompson by his refusal of a life of crime, to which, he said, he was led by glowing tales by former criminals he met while working in the Day Point shipyard.

CONFESSIONS THEFT OF PAPER MILL CHECKS

When arrested he had in his possession a check for $24,547 on the Zellerbach Paper Company, made out to California, Bred and T. B. Brandon, and several other checks. After close questioning he admitted that he stole these when he robbed the postoffice at Antioch, before he fled to Oakland.

Jewelry and money in his possession at the time of his arrest in a local theater, when De Voe Hampton, a boy associate, pointed him out to Botge and a policeman, was found to have been the property of Botge. The police are searching for partners of the boy, who admits that he did not work alone, but refuses to divulge the names of his associates.

Young Hampton, according to his story to the police, lives at 6521 Raymond street. He is a student at the local high school, and says that Perrotti confided in him that he robbed the Botge home. The boy is being held at the detention home pending further investigation of his accomplices.

VEEDER CLASHES WITH HENEY AT PACKER HEARING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Letters read today at the senate agriculture committee's hearing on meat-industry legislation disclosed that President Wilson made a personal investigation last February of protests against the Federal Trade Commission's conduct of the packing inquiry and informed Louis F. Swift that he was convinced that "there would be no warrant for his interference with the judgment and action of the commission."

Veeder vigorously criticized the methods of the trade commission, reiterating the charge that the packers were not given an opportunity to be heard.

"In your claim that you produced any witnesses at any hearing who was refused a right to be heard?" asked Mr. Henev.

"We did not bring any witness to any hearing in which you participated," replied the witness. "To submit them to all the crooked inferences made by you."

"But you had gone to Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the trade commission in 1918 and discussed with him the nature of any hearing in case the Board resolution was passed by Congress," suggested Henev.

Veeder replied that he urged a general investigation and not one of the packers alone, such as was provided by the Board resolution. "We did not propose to claim immunity by being heard in such an investigation," he said, "but we objected to being held up as criminals without cause, as we had been since 1902."

ARMAMENT OBSTACLE IN FORMATION OF LEAGUE

Special Committee Agrees on Two Articles in Constitution for Nation's Control; Divided on World Police

POWERS MAY DECIDE ON SIZE OF FORCES

Manner of Raising Armies May Be Left to the Individual Countries; Views Exchanged on Freedom of Seas

PARIS, Feb. 5.—The special committee which is drawing up the constitution for the league of nations agreed provisionally last night to the preamble and two of the articles, it was officially announced today. Satisfactory progress is being made on other parts of the draft.

By FRED S. FERGUSON, United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—The peace delegates are working today on the most difficult problem involved in creation of the league of nations—the force with which the league will make its decisions effective. Opinion seemed to be divided as to whether this force should be moral or physical. Most delegates have been admitted, ranging from complete abolition of armaments to organization of an international military and naval police, under a single commander.

The plan finding the greatest support among responsible delegates, however, provides for no such radical step. It proposes merely the reduction in each nation's armament to a point consistent with the maintenance of domestic tranquility, the league itself to be the ultimate judge of the standard. The army and navy to be needed by the member nations. The manner of raising armies would be left to the individual countries. Great Britain and the United States alone certainly would rely on volunteers, attracted by good pay. France and Italy possibly would return to conscription on the ground they could not do otherwise. Other nations would rely on the present system. In the case of Great Britain and the United States the number of soldiers will be approximately 200,000 for the British and 75,000 for the Americans.

POWERS WOULD FIX SIZE OF ARMIES

When the central powers are taken into membership the league would fix the size of their armies.

One great fear of the sea-laws will be prohibition of floating mines and prohibition of all mines outside territorial waters. Such mines would have to be anchored and designed so they would be rendered non-explosive if they broke free. Three-mile limit to territorial waters possibly will be extended, however, due to the fact that modern guns, both land and naval, have a greater range.

300,000 RUSS NOBLES SLAIN BY BOLSHIEVIKI

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Three hundred thousand Russians of noble birth have been slaughtered by the Bolshevik regime, according to information received here today from a reliable source.

In one month the Bolsheviks have sentenced to death more Russians than were executed in 24 years under the rule of the late Czar. More than 100,000 nobles were suppressed by the Soviets in one month than the old imperial government banished in 24 years.

In Moscow recently American students were seen plotting with the Russian Bolshevik leaders with the object of spreading Bolshevism throughout the United States.

These were the outstanding features in the Russian situation as disclosed by Count Tcherep Spiridovich, the great Slav leader, now in London. General Spiridovich was arrested in Moscow, but escaped and managed to make his way to this city. He is well known in America. Four of his sons were lost in the great war and the sire is now devoting all of his energies to preventing a coalition of the Bolsheviks and the Germans.

"When I was in Moscow recently I saw Americans, Englishmen and Frenchmen plotting the extension of Bolshevism throughout the world," said General Spiridovich. "These men are no idle dreamers, either. Lenin is printing 25,000,000 bank notes daily and is giving them out with both hands to his home and foreign emissaries for the purpose of spreading Bolshevism. The world has got to face this danger with as much determination as it did to crush Kaiserism. Otherwise the virus will spread and poison the whole world. Every week's delay and vacillation allows the situation to become more menacing."

Assembly to Decide Germany's Fate Must Undo Work of War Clique New Republic Faces Grave Problems

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WEIMAR, Feb. 5.—The fate of Germany, nationally and internationally, hangs on the results accomplished by the national assembly, which formally opens here tomorrow.

The assembly, which really is the first congress of the new republic, must untangle the intricate maze of problems brought about by the war. A group consisting largely of farmers, mechanics and other common people must undo the work of Germany's former rulers—the war lords and their junker supporters. A minority of disgruntled members have already opened a campaign of political sabotage to prevent the assembly from accomplishing its purposes, but the government with the vast majority of the people behind it is determined that nothing shall interfere with stabilization of political and economic conditions and is prepared to go to any extreme to protect the assembly.

WEIMAR IS CAPITAL.

Weimar is actually the capital of Germany today through the presidency of Chancellor Ebert, his cabinet and their entire staff, who have arrived here from Berlin. Ebert himself will open the assembly Thursday, with an address to the various bureaus, each of which has some particular phase of reconstruction to work into concrete form of presentation to the delegates as a whole.

Philip Scheidemann is scheduled to begin the political debates Saturday. There are many cross-currents in the assembly's work, any of which might disrupt the proceedings. There is the contest between the Prussians and the South Germans for domination of the new republic. There is the campaign to remove the capital from Berlin, preferably to Weimar. There are the political jealousies that will arrive when the various factions unite in coalition.

INDUSTRY NEAR COLLAPSE.

Probably the most serious situation confronting the assembly is the breakdown of transportation, the shortage of raw materials and depletion of national funds, all of which combine to render social as well as economic reconstruction most difficult. Every public utility and most private industries are on the verge of collapse, owing to the financial strain of war conditions. The treasury has three million gold marks with which to pay $25,000,000 in notes. The railroads and factories have been without adequate repairs for several years. There is a lack of raw materials and want of outlet for the manufactured products that are on hand. The workers have demanded better wages. In numerous cases when they were refused they seized the factories and divided the money in vaults, taking millions of dollars on the pretext of "communism."

Thus atmosphere is breeding the communist and Spartacist spirit. Aside from isolated outbreaks there is a temporary calm, but the radicals claim they lost the national election only through lack of organization.

Whole Philip Scheidemann is scheduled to begin the political debates Saturday. There are many cross-currents in the assembly's work, any of which might disrupt the proceedings. There is the contest between the Prussians and the South Germans for domination of the new republic. There is the campaign to remove the capital from Berlin, preferably to Weimar. There are the political jealousies that will arrive when the various factions unite in coalition.

INDUSTRY NEAR COLLAPSE.

Probably the most serious situation confronting the assembly is the breakdown of transportation, the shortage of raw materials and depletion of national funds, all of which combine to render social as well as economic reconstruction most difficult. Every public utility and most private industries are on the verge of collapse, owing to the financial strain of war conditions. The treasury has three million gold marks with which to pay $25,000,000 in notes. The railroads and factories have been without adequate repairs for several years. There is a lack of raw materials and want of outlet for the manufactured products that are on hand. The workers have demanded better wages. In numerous cases when they were refused they seized the factories and divided the money in vaults, taking millions of dollars on the pretext of "communism."

Thus atmosphere is breeding the communist and Spartacist spirit. Aside from isolated outbreaks there is a temporary calm, but the radicals claim they lost the national election only through lack of organization.

SINN FEIN NOT TO BE LET OUT OF CELLS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Reports that members of the Sinn Fein interned in England were to be released were denied today by a statement from the offices of the secretary for Ireland.

DUBLIN, Feb. 5.—All Sinn Fein prisoners interned in England will be released this morning, according to word received here.

The leading Sinn Fein here believe the British government purposely permitted Professor De Valera to escape so as to diminish the value of the Irish radicals' battery for the release of the Sinn Fein prisoners.

It is believed likely that De Valera will make his way to Paris and there ask to be admitted to the peace conference as representative of Ireland.

The Irish parliament at its recent opening session, appointed Irish plenipotentiaries to the Paris peace conference and De Valera was among them.

Professor Edward de Valera, the Sinn Fein leader, and Milroy and McGarry, also Sinn Fein members, were in the city today, according to a dispatch from London to the Evening News.

THE IN FACE WITH POTATO MASHER.

Sergeant Lynch and Corporal Farley of the provost guard, who were passing, heard the disturbance and came in and we three started with Brown for the city prison again, the crowd following us, throwing various missiles, one of which, a potato masher, struck Corporal Farley in the face, loosening his teeth.

Things looked so bad for us that we finally had to draw our revolvers to hold the crowd of "cigar store pugs" back, who kept crying, "Turn him loose."

As we passed the corner of Fourteenth and Washington I noticed the two uniformed police officers and as I passed them with Brown said "For God's sake, stop up this crowd, if possible, but they did nothing."

"We arrived at the City Hall and were warned by the jailor and night elevator man, while we were washing the blood from our faces, that the crowd was still waiting for us. But when we left a crowd of about twenty-five made no attempt to molest us."

When Provost Marshal Cole called upon Chief Nedderman yesterday and told him what had occurred the previous evening, Nedderman, according to Cole, became indignant and said that charges of lack of cooperation by members of his department were unwarranted, as "I came up myself just after Brown was taken in and I saw no crowd or disorder."

Lieutenant Cole then called upon Mayor Davis, who is quoted as saying that he realized the friction which existed and "was working to have the mayor be given control of the police department."

Commissioner Morse was next visited and the ultimatum of declaring Oakland a barred zone was made. Morse is quoted as having assured Lieutenant Cole that "there would be a decided change," and that last night there seemed to the members of the provost guard in Oakland to be a police officer in every block of the downtown district.

CONFESION MADE IN CHECK FRAUD

Bad check frauds, involving a dozen men in a plot by which Oakland merchants have been fleeced out of hundreds of dollars, and in which wholesale arrests are expected, have been solved. The shrewd rest of Albano Duranto, owner of shipwork, failed on a charge of cashing stolen checks, and who has made a complete confession to Captain of Inspectors James Drew, which the latter says will result in the next few days in the arrests of various men named by the prisoner.

Duranto was arrested after several weeks' investigation, following an epidemic of bad checks, cashed in Oakland stores and saloons, in every case being offered by a man wearing the identification badge corresponding to the number of the check. The shipyards, in the meantime, on complaint of the man to whom the check was paid, had stopped payment, on the ground that the check had been stolen from him.

Richard Rieh of Tenth street and Broadway, was the first victim of the system, and Jack Woolley, owner of a saloon at Twelfth and Broadway, the second. The police were working on their cases when half a score of other similar complaints arrived.

Duranto, according to Captain Caverly of the guards at the Moore shipyards, one of an organized gang which has been stealing checks, filling them in and cashing them, using several badges and names. The system was first traced through the badge numbers. Other mechanics in the yard are involved. Duranto says in that they gave up their checks canceled and released, and thus pocketed their week's pay and half an extra week's pay.

The shipyard books at Moore's show about $300 a week gathered in by the "system."

WIRE TAPPERS GET MILLIONS FROM VICTIMS

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Chicago secret service agents are today en route to Florida to round up what is declared to be the greatest gang of confidence men in years, a gang which is believed to have bilked Florida tourists of millions annually by the wire-tapping race betting system. One of the victims, W. P. Collins of Washington Court House, Ohio, who is said to have been swindled out of $50,000 by the outfit, is expected here today to tell how he fell a victim to the "quiet, persuasive gentlemen" who induced him to part with $50,000.

Collins' 17-year-old niece, whose name is being withheld for the time being, learned of the operations of the swindlers and notified the authorities.

According to information given the federal agents Collins drew three drafts on his bank for $25,000 and one for $30,000. He turned the $25,000 drafts over to the confidence men at St. Petersburg, Fla. This morning, learning of the swindle, he telegraphed Collins bank and stopped payment on the third draft for $30,000.

According to the story Collins, in placing his bets, gave his personal checks to the swindlers. The bookmaker, after cashing several bets for Collins, is said to have insisted on Collins putting up cash or certain checks. Collins readily complied. He secured the drafts and prepared for a "killing." Then the bookmaker calmly told him his horse had failed to come in the money, showed a flicker to prove it and cashed Collins' drafts.

Collins then called on a private detective agency and today a thorough investigation is under way.

Small Nations Seek Powers Want Voice in World's Affairs Claims Are Urged on Peace Meet

PARIS, Feb. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—President Wilson presided over the Commission of the Society of Nations, which had before it the complete project for constituting the league, discussing it article by article. While there is no authoritative information concerning the details of the project, the distribution of printed drafts among the members has disclosed the main features, and these can be summarized as follows:

Two main plans have been presented, which the members of the commission regard as embodying the American views, though both plans are composite, containing the best features from various sources. American, British, French and Italian.

Both plans are being considered together. In its original form, the first plan is generally regarded as more democratic, and therefore more acceptable to the small powers, whereas the revised plan is not so acceptable to the small powers, as it eliminates them from the executive branch of the proposed organization and is a long step toward the creation of an international supreme council, with a fundamental basis of codified international law.

The first plan had three main features:

First—A legislative branch, in which the great and small nations were equally represented, each as a unit.

Second—An executive branch consisting of two members from each of the great powers, United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, and nine members chosen from the small powers. This gave the executive body a total membership of nineteen, of whom ten represented the great powers and nine represented the small powers.

Third—Arbitration was provided for the determination of international issues. In case of a dispute between two nations, each nation named an arbitrator, and these two arbitrators, and a third arbitrator, three arbitrators thus chosen constituted a tribunal for determining the issues.

The foregoing on broad lines, is the project which meets with the most favor among the small nations, as they would be represented both in the legislative and executive branches. It is to be noted that such an organization would follow somewhat the lines of that of the present peace conference, as the legislative branch is analogous to plenary session of the conference, while the executive branch is similar to the council of the great powers now holding daily sessions.

The revised plan makes several important changes. The legislative branch remains the same, with the great and small nations represented. The executive branch is modified, however, so as to consist chiefly of the great powers, with two representatives from each, to which others from the small powers may be added when interests especially affecting them are at issue.

The third branch is entirely changed so as to eliminate the plan of arbitrators and substitute an executive council of the great powers as a tribunal for judging international issues, analogous to the international supreme council.

It is the two latter features which are regarded by the small powers as tending to concentrate the executive and judicial branches in the hands of the great powers, and which the small powers prefer the plan giving them a status on the executive branch and arbitration as a means of judicial determination instead of a tribunal of the great powers.

The question now before the commission is one largely between the great and small powers. Several of the small powers are understood to be preparing amendments to the revised plan, with a view to giving them representatives in all branches of the organization, and it is said that the tendency among the great powers is to give every reasonable consideration to these desires, while preserving to the major powers such voice as they may desire in the organization.

HANBURY ESTATE GUARDIAN OUSTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Adjudged incompetent and unfit, William H. Banta, Martinez hotel man, has been removed by court order as guardian of the vast estates of his seven-year-old stepson, David McKenzie Hanbury, and trusteeship has been vested in the Anglo California Trust Company. Young Hanbury is heir of the late David Theophilus Hanbury, millionaire. His estate comprises an interest in a big English brewing concern and California realty including the noted Island No. 2 on the Napa river.

Banta is neither a fit nor a competent person to administer the estate of the child, declared Superior Judge John T. Nourse in issuing his order. "His whole action is that of one looking for material advantages to himself."

Banta was removed as the result of action brought by his wife, Hanbury's widow. At the hearing on her petition, her attorney, Harry S. Young, attempted to show that Banta was heavily involved financially.

By Judge Nourse's decision, the Anglo California Trust Company assumes control of the child's estate immediately. Banta, who was awarded guardianship in 1915, loses all the rights then given him.

JUDGMENT IS UPHOLD.

Judge James C. Quinn has confirmed the judgment of Justice of the Peace Robert Edgar of Berkeley in the case of Charles O. Schnoor, convicted of tearing down Liberty Bond posters. He was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

Free Port Zone of Bay District Urged

Arguments for making San Francisco, the Eastbay cities and the entire bay region a free port zone fill two sections of sixteen pages in the annual recently issued in the Daily Commercial News, a newspaper devoted to news of finance, shipping, insurance, trade and industries and published in San Francisco.

Figures are presented to show how increased commerce might be expected to result from creation of a free port zone. Facts are given to portray the growth of Hamburg, Antwerp, Hongkong and other European and Asiatic cities once they were made free ports.

A free port, it is explained, is an enclosed and guarded area where import of goods may be landed and held without customs inspection or payment of duties. Goods to be re-exported may be sorted and sent away without customs interference. Goods to enter the country go through the customs at the edge of the zone. This affords an open trade route for foreign commerce.

Intemperance Is Divorce Suit Plea

Helen E. Burdell accuses Victor O. Burdell of intemperance in a suit for divorce filed today. She alleges that he returns home intoxicated and pleads with her for the money she has saved, and that he sold their automobile and spent the money on other women in cities.

Mary Peters accuses Manuel Peters of cruelty; Julius Kammar alleges desertion and infidelity against Marie Kammar; and Antonio Ferreira sues for annulment of his marriage to Marie Souza Ferreira alleging that she is the lawful wife of Manuel P. Souza.

Suit Is Filed to End Partnership

Suit for an accounting and dissolution of a partnership has been instituted by George A. Wentworth against Charles D. Mooney. The complaint alleges that they acquired 240 acres of land in Napa valley and that the defendant collected and applied to his own uses as much as $8,000 owing the partners.

ALL IN CHURCH MISSIONARIES, SAYS NICHOLS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—Vested clergy and choir singers as much missionaries as those who travel to foreign lands, according to Bishop Nichols, who addressed the sixty-ninth convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church diocese of California. "We must first find our mission and then follow it," he said. A joint session of the convention with the house of churchwomen was to be held this afternoon.

With all the pomp and ceremony which marks the Holy Communion of the Episcopal Church, the convention was begun yesterday in Grace Cathedral. Following the service and celebration of the Holy Communion, the keynote of the session was struck by Right Rev. William Ford Nichols, bishop of this diocese. "The vital issue before the church today is whether the church of God can show this generation the things that belong to its peace and 'goodwill unto that peace'."

The address of Bishop Nichols in part follows: "Peace has come to the world again after the most tumultuous rising of mankind against itself and against nature. Again every Christian vision stirs within us a crying out to Christ that he would be merciful to us today upon all the vitality of church energy a new breath of life. The vital issue of our day is whether the church of God can show our generation the things that belong to its peace and goodwill unto that peace."

Reviews the important work of the two inter-convention diocesan conferences, held at St. Paul's Church, Oakland, September 22, and Grace Cathedral, here February 17. Bishop Nichols passed to the work of the House of churchwomen. "This year it holds its fourteenth meeting and the outstanding facts of all its records is that it has had an attendance of delegates that tested the capacity of every one of its meeting places, and an interest in the proceedings and a place and influence in our convention week that should, in some respect, entitle the whole work with new life and zest. It has well kept pace with the sound progressive status of the womanhood in the church as well as in the state."

URGES BISHOP COADJUTOR. In referring to the reasons which occasioned his request for a bishop-coadjutor, which is one of the most important business of this convention, the bishop continued: "In such a measure for the corporate policy of the diocese, the personal estate should have but little place, and yet I feel that you will not be unwilling to allow me to take you into my confidence in some of the heart-searching need to the request for a bishop-coadjutor. That there have been consideration of wishing to ease growing pains from responsibility was inevitable, even though there has been since the day of my coming a consideration unbroken and unhearing in all these years. In submitting to you my formal request, I would like to make plain to you things which should be made plain to you with no shaping or influence of the bishop in that the apostolic democracy for convention action. Next, that the bishop-coadjutor should be duly consecrated with full administrative power and authority."

Discharged Soldiers May Wear Uniforms

Officers and enlisted men who have been mustered out of the military service do not have to discard their uniforms at once, according to army officers at the Presidio in San Francisco. No order directing the men to discard their uniforms has been issued by the War Department. Legislation is pending in Congress to permit men who have been in the military service to retain their uniforms instead of complying with the military regulations, which provide for their return to the government not later than four months after the wearer is mustered out of the service.

Stage Set For Great Motor Show Exhibition Will Open Tomorrow

Out at the Exposition Auditorium, San Francisco, the stage is set for the greatest presentation of motor vehicles in the history of the west. It is the Third Annual Pacific Automobile Show, which opens tomorrow night for a ten-day and night exhibition. The affair is the first "post-war" display on the coast. It is symbolic of America's victorious achievement in the world war.

Tomorrow night motor enthusiasts from all over California will gather at the spacious building to pay homage to "King Motor" and as "opening night" is the annual turnout of the elite a record attendance is anticipated. Given under the auspices of the San Francisco Motor Car Dealers' Association, the affair this season is predicted to eclipse any past successful show. DECORATIONS ELABORATE. In the matter of decorations no expense has been spared. This feature of the first and second auto shows were noteworthy accomplishments, but the elaborateness of the decorations at this exhibition far surpass all other efforts. It is a passenger car, truck and tractor exhibition. The opening of the show will herald the entry of the automobile industry back into the peace basis. It will demonstrate the ability of the automobile manufacture to resume trade conditions after devoting itself wholly and unselfishly to the winning of the world war.

CHATEAU BOMB NOT YET TRACED

RICHMOND, Feb. 5.—No clues have been unearthed which would trace suspicion to the person or persons who at 2:30 a. m. Sunday placed the bomb which wrecked the Chateau, a former railroad house now converted into a "soft drink" parlor and dance hall on the outskirts of the city, endangering the lives of more than a score of pleasure-seekers. Sheriff William Yeake of Contra Costa county and a large corps of deputies are still investigating the mystery, expecting hourly to have in their possession evidence which will cause the arrest of the guilty persons. A truck chaser which turned the explosion toward the ground saved the lives of those within the building when the black powder bomb exploded. J. P. Reimer is manager of the place, which is conducted by L. W. Warren. Cans of black powder were found scattered about the basement of the building.

Back to Health From Death's Door

J. F. Bennett, former constable, Pescadero, San Mateo County. Was Cured by Use of Tuberculosis. He says:

"The doctors all told me I was going to die, that I had tuberculosis and had nothing to hope for from medicines or change of climate. Six months ago I was in a bad way, up and down the coast looking for relief and spending all my money. 'I kept getting worse daily and finally, when all hope was gone, came Mrs. Poo and Wing. They had cured a niece of mine before this. Dr. Wing told me, after making a diagnosis of my case, that he could cure me. At that time I was so weak I could not raise my arms and could not stand freely. The very next morning, after only one treatment, I felt better and have been getting better every day, until today I am thoroughly cured, have gained thirty pounds in weight and do the work of a strong man. It is the merit of mine will persuade other sufferers that there is hope for them I will be satisfied. I want them to benefit by my case.'"

SHIPOWNERS ORGANIZE IN RATE BATTLE

The first step in the organization of the Pacific Coast Steamship Association, which will include in its membership all the owners and operators of steam-propelled vessels on the Pacific coast, was taken yesterday at a meeting of representatives of practically all of the steamship lines in the bay district, together with representatives of a number of the Seattle companies. The proposed association will deal in a general way with the problem of steamship operation on the Pacific coast through standing committees, which will meet at frequent intervals. The meeting originally was called to formulate objections to the proposal of the federal railroad administration to eliminate the absorption of terminal charges at San Francisco and Seattle. The proposal to form the organization was made by H. T. Cantlow, assistant general manager of the Pacific Steamship Company, and J. J. Marlon of Dowdell & Co. The new association, which will correspond in strength and scope to the Atlantic Steamship Association, will be effected within the next few days. The following lines signified their intentions to affiliate: Hind-Tulip Navigation Company, Union Steamship Line, O. A. Landbig & Co., Dowdell & Co., Mitsui & Co., Oceanic Steamship Company, China Mail, East Asiatic Company, Jackson Navigation Company, Pacific Mail, W. H. George & Co., Bank Line Transport and Trading Company, Swaine & Hoyt, Trans-Oceanic Steamship Company. An effort will be made to include the owners of steam shipowners on the Pacific coast in the organization.

BUREAU TO HELP TROOPS PLANNED

Plans for a bureau to protect returning soldiers and guard their war insurance rights were outlined today by Mayor John L. Davis in a communication to the city council, in which he told of the organization of a soldiers' insurance bureau, to be directed by Fred R. Melham, of the war risk department of the judge advocate's office in the army. Melham is to work in Oakland with an advisory bureau, on which the mayor desires the city to be represented, to safeguard soldiers. This service, the mayor said, will be free. "My office is in receipt daily of inquiries from dependents of soldiers," the mayor wrote, "seeking information as to obtaining insurance or war risk benefits. This bureau will solve the problem. The vocational rehabilitation and war compensation work will all be administered with the aid of this bureau."

WINS FREEDOM FROM ATTACKS OF INDIGESTION

Railroad Man Recovers Appetite After Long Siege of Nervous Indigestion. Every normal, healthy person is endowed with a reserve supply of strength which can be used in an emergency. This reserve is frequently the margin of safety between health and sickness. A man with an abundance of red blood can stand hours of exposure in any kind of weather without any serious consequences, but the person of weak, thin blood, put in the same situation, will succumb to bronchitis, pneumonia or other serious diseases. Maintain the quality and quantity of the blood and disease will be a stranger to you; neglect the blood and danger will lurk in the air you breathe and the food you eat. After the first effects of weak blood is the starving of the nerves which gain their nourishment only from the blood. Ill-nourished nerves give notice of their condition in kind of constant nervousness or nervousness. One of the most distressing forms of nervousness is nervous indigestion. Food loses its attraction and when lessened inevitably follows and the individual rises as unrefreshed as when he retired. The most direct method of treating these disorders is to get kind to build up the blood so that new life may be carried to the nerves. Mr. Chris Leeves, of No. 915 East Seymour street, Muncie, Ind., tells how he freed himself from almost constant suffering and restored his appetite. He says: "I am a railroad track foreman and in the course of my work I am exposed to all sorts of weather. Some time ago, while I was slightly run down in health, I became ill and after that I suffered more or less. My nerves went astray and I couldn't sleep. There was a constant gnawing pain in my stomach and my appetite was poor. "I tried many treatments without benefit until, after reading an article in a paper, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I could relish my meals after taking the first box and I was so pleased with the result that I continued the treatment according to directions until I had taken five boxes. As a result my stomach trouble has disappeared and I'm no longer bothered by the gnawing pain or with sour stomach. My nerves are completely restored. I have recommended the pills to a relative and he has found the treatment beneficial."

TRENCH FEVER, FLU VIRUS DISCOVERED

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The virus of trench fever and that of influenza and of some forms of nephritis have been isolated and identified; according to a report submitted to the director general of the army medical service in France by a number of army medical officers. The virus in each case has been proved to be a minute globular cell varying in size and behavior in three types of disease. Investigations which have been conducted have resulted, it is believed, in the isolation of the germs of mumps, measles and typhus, the causes of which have hitherto been obscure and the bacilli of which have never before been isolated.

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Eminent medical specialists today began an attempt to conquer Spanish influenza, the disease that killed thousands of persons in this country alone in the past year. A "death squad" of fifty young naval men from the detention barracks at Deer Island, who volunteered in the interests of humanity to submit themselves to experiment and treatment, went to the influenza colony at Gullup's Island. Prof. M. J. Rosenau, Harvard medical school, is in charge of the study.

HARBOR PLAN ON THIS SIDE OF BAY URGED

Determined that the state shall establish a definite policy toward harbor development on this side of the bay, Assemblyman Edgar S. Hurley of this city is spending the legislative interim in lining up the civic organizations that will support his $200,000 bonds for Eastbay shore improvement when the legislature reopens.

Assemblyman Hurley's bill for this purpose was introduced in the first session and referred to the drainage committee, which is expected to refer it out immediately after reconvening. Various legal phases involved are now being investigated and questions of the best outline of the plan considered, so that it will be referred out as an amended bill.

FOR STATE BONDS.
It provides that $200,000 state bonds be issued to cover the dredging of the Eastbay shore from Albany to Alameda.

"The plan is sufficiently elastic to permit the diversion of any unused sums to other harbors. If passed by the legislature, and Assemblyman Hurley is confident it will be passed, the bill goes to vote of the people of the state on referendum."

"It is then that the energies of this side of the bay might be expended to the utmost in a campaign of propaganda and education throughout the state," Assemblyman Hurley said today. "Opposition will come chiefly from among those who do not understand the proposition and their minds must be cleared. It will take considerable hard work on the part of Eastbay civic organizations and municipalities, but I believe it can be carried."

NEW POLICY NEEDED.
"It is not so much that we want $200,000 to do this dredging, although the work is certainly needed and the sum commensurate with the work, but that we want a definite Eastbay shore policy established by the state. Such a policy for several decades has been established with reference to the San Francisco harbor, and has contributed considerably to the growth of that port. But the State Board of Harbor Commissioners was established when San Francisco was the only port of importance in the state and before the past few years' tremendous advances in maritime importance of the Eastbay section had been even dreamed of."

"The Eastbay section is, therefore, suffering under an antiquated and impracticable conception of affairs. With these many thousand acres of the most valuable coastline lands in the west lying undeveloped, Oakland and neighboring cities will fail to reach the high commercial prosperity that is theirs by right."

"The real interest of the state as a whole in this question appears when we come to consider the purposes this waterfront land would serve if properly developed. The whole agricultural and industrial hinterland is crying for outlet. Other means of furnishing this than shipping to eastern markets are steadily being developed. The time has come when the Eastbay district must have a share and my bill aims to help give it."

GRAND OPERA TO VIEW WITH FILMS
A season of grand opera will be inaugurated tonight with a performance of "Cavalleria Rusticana" at the T. and D. All of society is planning to attend the opera and the casual theatergoer as well as the worshiper of good music have engaged seats, it is said. "Cavalleria Rusticana" will be sung every night this week and at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The public may review the regular motion pictures that precede the opera and remain for the latter performance without additional cost. A big percentage of the gross receipts goes to the new Oakland Labor Temple Association to help defray the cost of erecting the edifice at 1725 Broadway, and George C. Davis, secretary of the temple, has urged that all friends of labor attend the grand opera performance at the T. and D. either tonight, Thursday, Friday or Saturday or Saturday matinee.

Grand opera with a company of recognized stars at popular prices, is an innovation in Oakland, said Eugene Perry, manager of the T. and D. today, "and we feel sure that the performance given on the T. and D. stage will eclipse any performance of 'Cavalleria Rusticana' ever in Oakland in the past several years."

Soprano Nina Martini will sing the role of Santuzza, tenor Louis Foy, tenor Victor Gabor, and the parts of Lolo, Lucia and others will be in capable hands, it is said. A chorus of trained vocalists will sing the beautiful Mascagni music for the opera. Margaretta Fowler in "Fair Phrygia" and Lucie Williams in "Hilda" T. and D. are the two feature plays. For Wednesday to Saturday afternoon at the T. and D.

Wife of Minister Will Give Reading
Mrs. Garst, wife of Rev. J. N. Garst, pastor of the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist church, has arranged an evening of reading, music and business matters for Friday of this week at the 23rd Avenue church, to be given under the auspices of the King's Daughters.

Mrs. Garst is a graduate of Washington College of Oratory, Tennessee.

The ladies of the church of the Advent, 1825 Broadway, are preparing to give a dinner to the members and friends of the church on Friday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. John Stephens, 30 Orchard street, will give a "Lenten" service during Lent, February 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, to members of the First Methodist church, but to all their other friends.

Because of the national observance of Roosevelt memorial Sunday on February 12, the surgeon general of the Public Health Service at Washington is asking the ministers of the country to deliver sermons on "The Responsibility of the Churches for Health and Social Morals" on February 12, instead of February 9, the date first agreed upon.

UNDERTAKERS NEVER DIE—AT LEAST YOUNG

The undertaking business is the healthiest business in the world, according to the decision of the state board of embalmers which met yesterday in Sacramento. Undertakers die either of accident or old age but not of epidemics.

Less than 5 engaged in the undertaking business in the state have died of influenza during the entire period of the epidemic, despite the hundreds of bodies of victims they have handled.

Moreover, undertakers never die young. The State Board of Embalmers affirms it.

Criminals Just Sick Men, Declares Judge

"Criminals are just sick men and they ought to be sent to hospitals, rather than to prisons, but the law requires that I hold you to answer to the Superior Court."

This was the decision of Police Judge George Samsel in the case of John Johnson, who appeared in court to answer a charge of attempted burglary at the saloon of Harry Robinson, 1902 San Pablo avenue, January 27.

Johnson, who has a long police record, dating back to a sentence of fifteen months for burglary in the Mansfield Reformatory in 1902, made a long succession of denials. Then after being on the stand nearly an hour Johnson finally admitted, step by step, his long record of crime.

"I had been a sufferer from pimples and blackheads on my face and arms for three years. The pimples were scattered over my face, and they itched so that I used to scratch and I did not even sleep. I found out about Cuticura so I sent for a sample. I then bought a box of Soap and after using one cake of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Laurence Granado, 117 W. IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Meat Regularly

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then and there get a season of cleansing and the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cures without injury; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all should use.

Then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

Bandruft Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy hair, do by all means get rid of bandruft, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of bandruft is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use a brush to massage the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your bandruft will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much bandruft you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

ROOMS MIXED IN DIVORCE TANGLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—James Allison, 66, millionaire cattle owner of Australia, and the beautiful woman of 22 whom he married November 19 last, following their tangle in the divorce court here yesterday morning, experienced a further mixup at the St. Francis hotel last night when the clerks shuffled the rooms incorrectly and a new deal was necessitated.

The Allison came to California on their honeymoon. But a short time convinced them that May and December should not mate. They decided to seek a settlement in court, but they continued to share room 1113 at the St. Francis until the time they went into court yesterday morning.

A good deal of unexplained mystery entered into that divorce settlement, for Allison agreed to give his wife out right $125,000 on condition that she should remain away from Australia, but the reason why he was willing to pay such a large sum to keep his former wife out of the commonwealth was not disclosed. In addition he is to pay $50,000 in the Union Trust Company which will pay his wife the income from it during her lifetime, after which the principal reverts to Allison's estate. Also Allison is to pay $2500 alimony a year.

While all this was going on in the divorce court the clerks at the St. Francis were preparing to separate the lodgings of the couple who just yesterday morning had occupied the same room. Allison at night found himself in room 1231 as a result. Then a bell-boy rapped on his door and excitedly demanded he withdraw to room 220. "Why?" asked Allison.

STRIKE TONIGHT, CLERKS' THREAT

RICHMOND, Feb. 5.—Efforts of the Richmond Retail Merchants' Association to secure a compromise with the Retail Clerks' Union on the demand for a universal 5 percent closing hour have failed. The clerks last night voted to stand by the original agreement, submitted to the merchants on December 30. The demands will go into effect tonight, when clerks say they will walk out if the merchants refuse to close at 5 o'clock.

"Because this is part of a suite," explained the bellboy, "and the clerks put the lady what was your wife in the connecting room."

13 Dollars—13 Cents

When Swift & Company paid, say,—13 dollars per hundredweight for live beef cattle last year, their profit was only 13 cents! In other words, if we had paid $13.13, we would have made no profit.

Or, if we had received a quarter of a cent per pound less for dressed beef we would have made no profit.

It is doubtful whether any other business is run on so close a margin of profit.

This is bringing the producer and the consumer pretty close together—which should be the object of any industry turning raw material into a useful form.

This remarkable showing is due to enormous volume, perfected facilities (packing plants strategically located, branch houses, refrigerator cars, etc.), and an army of men and women chosen and trained to do their special work.

This, and many other points of interest, are found in the Swift & Company Year Book for 1919, just published which is brought out for the public as well as for the 25,000 Swift & Company shareholders.

The Year Book also represents the packer's side of the Federal Trade Commission investigation, upon which Congress is asked to base action against the industry.

Many who have never heard the packer's side are sending for the Year Book.

Beauty Hints From Diary Of New York Fashion Model

Shades of gray, lavender, black and navy are lovely on the gray-haired woman. She also looks lovely in white in summer.

A particularly pleasing gown for a gray-haired woman is found in this theater dress of dull gray and lavender. The foundation of the skirt and bodice are pinkish lavender. The gray chiffon over this is draped thin gray crepe of the softest texture. The effect is that of mist.

The bodice of this dress is softly draped to form a deep "U"-shaped décolleté back and front. This round neck is peep-edged and quite plain, except for the thinnest fold of flesh-colored net.

The sleeves are more wisps of gray chiffon, cut long enough to fall into curls. These loosely hanging curls are trimmed with anemone crystal.

The graceful skirt drapery is also outlined with these anemone beads, which repeat the purple tint of the lavender chiffon lining. The skirt is held in a bias line, so as to cascade gracefully down the left side front. It manages, however, to sit rather snugly around the angles.

The skirt is made of two folds of sheer tulle, one mauve and the other gray. Hand-made flowers, toned in shades of mauve, gray and purple, are attached to the skirt.

The shade of mauve is repeated in the roses of the large black velvet hat which is worn with this dress. A broad taupe room shape is wreathed in silk roses, shading from the outer petals of purple to a pale coral tint in the center. The velvet color is very lovely with the duller tones of the gown and hat.

Gray satin slippers with gray, cut steel buckles and gray silk stockings complete this very effective theater gown for the mature woman.

With the neck made higher at the back and worn with a sheer choker of real lace, this frock would make a lovely model for day-time wear, at upon wedding, luncheon or card parties.

Black patent leather pumps with cut steel buckles and gray silk stockings look well for street wear with this dress.

SPRING SONG ANTHOLOGY.

I saw a star break through the evening sky,
And as it spilt the bowl of blue it said:
"Lo, night is come."

I turned to where thou stoodst beside me watching,
And looked within thine eyes;
And thou said:
"Izowled, the star spake a lie,
For behold! I see the day!"
—Glen Hughes.

Say, Glenn, when that star in the evening sky,
Made unprecedented remark to likes of you,
How did you feel?

Perhaps the moon chipped in with looney talk
And dog stars barked? But why
When you saw me watching
And swear you'd not been drinking?

Clara Morris Writes About One Touch Of Nature.

Clara Morris

I am certainly in an uplifted and vainglorious frame of mind today. And the reason for this self-satisfaction?

First, let me say, I have always been fond of boys. Just the common garden variety that

Rather freckles and stone bruises all summer and children all winter, and sublimely kind and says, "Yes, ma'am," the week before Christmas or his birthday.

Now, through the years, I have told stories to boys. Some who have been to the hospital, and because of this experience I wish to ask two questions of other boy lovers and tellers of tales to parents, relatives or just friends. Tell me this:

WHAT'S THE REASON?
In the story of the Round Table, with all its fascinating knights, armor, weapons, pomp and general splendor, heroism, loyalty, bravery and courage—courage physical and moral—have you ever known a boy—little or big boy—who failed to give instant and hearty preference to Lancelot over King Arthur, the good, the gallant, the chivalrous?

Why is Lancelot always the favorite? Perhaps his faults make him more human than the best of us.

It may be Arthur's very perfection repels them. At all events there's generally a quarrel as to who shall play Sir Lancelot, within two minutes after the closing of the tale.

Acquaintance with a boy in your life known of a boy wanting to play George Washington?

A boy's attitude of mind toward the Father of his Country is one of profound respect, deep veneration, a sort of reverent admiration for a great man whose name never seems quite human to him.

What has deprived Washington of the enthusiastic love, the hero worship of our boys? No doubt the old-fashioned biographer is to blame, in part.

That biography's honest handling of the story of the "most unlikeliest, unimpaired, unlovely story that was ever related as fact."

That story has turned the fur for the wrong way for thousands of boys! It has made them look upon the Father of their Country as a cold, distant, unapproachable figure, a man whose name never seems quite human to him.

THE THINGS THAT ARE NOT SO

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

I sometimes think we grown-ups know

Too many things that are not so;

We spend our time, or so it seems,

Shattering the children's fondest dreams.

And filling little eyes with mist

By proving fairies don't exist.

Perhaps we ought to teach the youth

To tread the rugged way of truth,

And make them think this world a place

Where everything is commonplace.

And only that is true, which they

Can see and touch from day to day.

And yet that robs each girl and boy

Of all imaginary joy,

Who follows strictly Truth's stern

laws,

Deprives a child of Santa Claus

And takes from every rose bush fair

The fairies that are dwelling there.

When children ask if things are so,

It's seldom that I tell them "No."

In fancy's fashion I contrive

To keep their fairy-folk alive.

Rather than end their dreams in grief,

I try to strengthen their belief.

I tell of fairies I have met

Dancing about the mignonette,

And as their eyes are open-wide

With wonderment, with tender pride

I scratch my dull, slow-witted head

Recalling what they did and said.

I think for such a golden lie

I'll be forgiven by and by.

Too soon those little eyes will weep

O'er broken dreams they cannot keep.

Too soon, I'm sure, they'll come to know

How many cherished joys aren't so.

Here Is That Funny Feller Unk Wiggily And His Pals

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, resided in his little stump bungalow, after having been out to look for an adventure, he couldn't find Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzo?

"I wonder where that nice muskrat lady housekeeper of mine can be?" said Uncle Wiggily. Then he called "Where are you, Nurse Jane?"

"I'm down cellar," answered a voice faint and far away, such as we sometimes hear in dreams.

"Thess my red, white and blue rheumatism crutch," said Uncle Wiggily. "What are you doing down cellar?"

"Getting some apples," answered Nurse Jane.

"What are you going to do with apples?" asked the bunny.

"Oh, I'll have a warm apple pie and a bit of cheese for you."

"Oh, I'll have a warm apple pie and a bit of cheese for you."

"Little Theaters"

With the "little theaters" which are rising up all over the country, comes yet another to the list, which is drawing largely upon the amateurs whose work is even more finished than many professional productions in the Garden Players. Garnet Holme, disciple of Sir Frank Benson and Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson is the genius of this particular and exclusive band of lovers of the drama, with Miss Nina Moise as an intimate associate. The first season will open on the anniversary of the birth of George Washington and if it argues anything for the debut of the players together, who separately have won fame for California and made it an art center, it is something worth while. A comedy, "The Little Theater," will introduce the newest venture.

Major Sidney Peixotto has been the busy godfather of the small theater and offered the members a home in the Columbia Park Boys' Club. An attractive little auditorium and a charming open air stage which will tempt to patriotism in the spring and summer has thus been secured. Because the club is so closely akin to literature every Sunday will offer programs to those who are fortunate enough to be included. So is the case with the members of the club, who are doing things which will gather about the fireplace after rehearsal and performances to learn to know these of mutual tastes and interests.

Four bills will be offered during the season, the performers to be given every Saturday and Sunday night and running for three consecutive weeks. A group of fifty Garnet and Nina Moise have been invited to join the new movement.

Sidney Peixotto is president of the executive board. Miss Douglas Watson, head of a member of the advisory board of twenty-four. She will be cast in some interesting roles during the season.

WOMEN NOTABLE IN NATIONAL SUFFRAGE. When the stage of national suffrage for women is written, among the notable names which will be blazoned forth will be those of Mrs. Mary Nolan of Florida, Abbey Scott Baker, Vice President, Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs. Mary Windsor, Cora Weeks, Mrs. F. W. Kendall, Mrs. A. E. Colman, Mary Ingraham Edith Alinge, Lucy Burns, Elizabeth McShane, Lavonia Dock, Lillian Asouath, Pauline Adams, Gladys Greer, Dr. Caroline Spencer. Monday a special leaves Washington, D. C. bearing each of these women across the continent. They will arrive in San Francisco on February 21. Society is quite excited about their coming, and has arranged in honor of the visitors to the west a reception in the Scottish Rite Auditorium. With guests of honor in prison garb, with moving pictures showing them in the activities which will ever make them remembered, California men and women are about to witness something quite new "which is being done this season" and to join, perhaps in the song in the campaign for the franchise of the womanhood of America.

Mrs. George McNear is sailing tomorrow for the Hawaiian Islands to be absent from California some weeks which may even be prolonged into months. She goes primarily to be with her son, George McNear, Jr., who is charged with a serious illness and whose health it is thought the mild climate of Honolulu will greatly benefit.

Women Prepare
To Wind Up
Children's Year

By GEORGIA C. BORDWELL. While the Woman's Committee of the State Council of Defense has officially denominated the year 1919 as the Children's Year, it is holding itself in readiness to meet at any time to wind up the affairs of the Children's Year, which commenced under April. At that time the last weighing and measuring campaign will be conducted. This will be for the purpose of seeing just what progress the children have made since the campaign of education was begun with their mothers last April. No children will be considered during the next campaign who have not been previously weighed and whose defects have been discussed.

The progress made will make interesting data for those women who are urging the establishment of health centers for Oakland, for if such centers are established the work of saving babies can go right on, say the backers of this project.

D. A. R. TO MEET NEXT MONDAY. The Oakland Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet Monday, Feb. 4, at 8 p. m. at the 152 Grand avenue, Monday, Feb. 11, 1919. The chapter will be honored by the presence of many prominent D. A. R. women, among them Mrs. Cassius C. Cottle, State regent from Los Angeles, next visiting about the bay, who has come north to attend the State Conference in San Francisco. So, too, will be Mrs. C. L. Larshberger, vice regent, and Mrs. John C. French, past State Regent.

Mrs. Ella Leary of Seattle, now a guest at the Fairmont, will be the representative of the Mt. Vernon Association, the conference, and will also be a guest of the committee.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Phoebe Hearst is the representative of the Association of Women of the West. Every year a delegation from the association spends ten days at St. Vincent, the headquarters of health centers, and what reactions occur from the experience, but certain it is that the privilege of occupying Martha Washington's bed and sitting upon George Washington's chair is a great honor.

The business of the coming meeting will be given over to the approaching conference, February 13-14. A musical and tea will conclude the interesting afternoon.

WEEK'S PROGRAM OF GIRLS' DIVISION. It will be seen by the week's program for the Girls' Division, War Camp Community Service, that the girls' division is being offered in plenty to the girls of Oakland.

Ten hours of service was the club button, and service takes on a new meaning in the girls' division. It is not only a matter of dancing or assisting the hostess or studying French or doing the housework, but it is a matter of service to the community. The girls of the club are to be seen in the world of literature and an authority on older California. Twice has Mrs. Woodbury presided as a guest of honor and often has she sat in council of the California Federation of Women's Clubs. Perhaps she is as widely known for her quick wit as her scholarly mind. Throughout California the Woodburys claim hundreds of friends. Mrs. Hope Gibson, Mrs. Edward de Lavaca, Mrs. Harrie Taylor are the three daughters of the home. Mrs. Woodbury and her family are to be seen in the world of literature and an authority on older California.

GUEST OF SISTER. With thrilling tales of the air Lieutenant Sidney Howard has returned from overseas duty and is the guest of the house guest of his sister, Mrs. Duncan McDuffie, at her lovely place in Claremont, California. Howard was pilot of the machine in which Lieutenant Edmund Parrott was killed last September. Returning from an observation flight they were apparently safe with no enemy in sight, when an attack was sprung upon them. A bullet pierced Lieutenant Parrott's head, causing immediate death. No other shot was fired. The airplane and its other two occupants escaped without any injury.

To join her husband Leigh Hume in Denver, Colorado, Mrs. Hume left last evening with an interesting little party of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hume was with the colors overseas when he was stricken with the influenza, developing a stupor case which will require at least two months of treatment and nursing. He has been assigned by the military authorities to a base hospital near Denver from where early in the summer he will receive his discharge. Hume enlisted with the 6th Coast Artillery. Formerly he was connected with the East Bay Water Company. Mrs. Hume will remain with him until his complete recovery.

One of the festivities attendant upon the departure of the young matron was that for which Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hume, who are the hosts of the party, threw open their Ninth avenue residence a few evenings ago, asking a congenial coterie of intimates to meet Mrs. Hume.

"Blue Laws" Will Be Opposed at Meeting. A mass meeting protest against the passage of Senate bill No. 77, and assembly bill No. 142, commonly known as the "blue laws" closing law, will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. F. Hall, corner Twelfth and Franklin. Wm. Martin, general secretary of the Pacific Religious Liberty Association, will be the chief speaker. The religious association denies the right of any civil government to legislate on matters of religion and conscience. The proposed Sunday closing law introduced by Assemblyman Jones closes all stores on Sunday except the creameries, candy stores, and cigar stores, which are permitted to remain open because, as the bill states, "it is in the public interest to have these stores open for the sale of necessities." Under the provisions of this law it is a "crime," punishable with a sentence for any one to sell, deliver, or transport on Sunday, any food, delicatessen goods or fruit on Sunday because they are not "of daily necessity." The law is in violation of the constitution of this state and of the United States. All gasoline stations in the state will have to close up on Sunday, yet at the same time the garage are permitted to remain open.

Cupid Extra Busy in City of Angels. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Romance and marriage—oh, that's a Los Angeles specialty. "Cupid" R. S. Sparks, county marriage license clerk, has just compiled figures to prove Los Angeles the center of California's marriage industry. Twenty-eight and three-fourths per cent of the 24,597 marriages performed in California during 1918 were of the "made in Los Angeles" variety. Sparks' figures show.

Used in the program constitute service. Essential none of these things are required of the girl; she may use the club as just a place to rest. There is a big hall and a book where for the tired girl who works so hard all day that she doesn't want to do a thing but sit and read all evening. The club girl who lives in a boarding house, who doesn't go in for athletics and who has spent many a lonely evening, need be lonely no longer; she may engage in any of the branches of "service," or if she insists on being lonely she can go to the Girls' Club at its corner and be lonely in a beautiful place. This is the program:

AUXILIARY OF BASE HOSPITAL TO MEET. On Thursday evening there will be a meeting of the Auxiliary of Base Hospital 47, at the Hotel Oakland, 10 to which all relatives and friends of members of Base Hospital 47 are invited. Relatives have received word during the past week that the hospital unit has been moved to a port of embarkation in France, which gives rise to the hope that the members will soon be reunited their way home.

The officers and the nurses of this hospital, and most of the privates come from around the bay. The Auxiliary, formed at the time the unit mobilized at Fremont, has provided many extras for the members, basketball outfits, hand instruments and three violas, to say nothing of substantial sums of money. What the members of the hospital unit will be doing for the Auxiliary will be used for helping in the readjustment of some of the members who may need it upon their return.

Those who have received recent letters from members of the unit are requested to take them to the meeting Thursday evening.

STUDY OF HOME ECONOMICS URGED. Home economics, which formed so large a part of the war work of women, the women who were so busy taking care of the family that they had no time to devote to their own little time to attend meetings, bids fair to become the permanent work of women in the future. The study of home economics is being urged by Mrs. C. M. Harris of Berkeley, chairman of home economics for the Federation of Women's Clubs. It is successful in carrying the message to club women that it is their duty to study.

The book is left in the treasury of the club. It is a book of the activities, successfully carried on by various clubs.
